OHSU Center for Healthy Communities and the Northwest Portland Area Indian Health Board have collaborated to disseminate a school and community-based youth development program based on Native STAND (Students Together Against Negative Decisions), one of the very few adolescent sexual health curriculums developed for Native youth. We are recruiting Tribes and Tribal Organizations to participate in the Native STAND dissemination project. In an effort to eliminate health disparities for tribal youth, the goal of the project is to understand the factors that affect adoption and use of the Native STAND curriculum.
